HOWARD SHANKS, The Speedy Young Gardener of the Nationals, Who Is Electrifying the Fans of Eight Cities By His Marvelous Stunts in the Field. This Youngster Is in the Big League To Stay.

GROOM AT HIS BEST WHEN FACING HEAVIEST HITTERS

Sam Crawford Is One of Sir Robert's Principal Victims.

By "SENATOR."

Sir Robert Groom, the elongated, attenuated toothpick twirler, backed by a hitting team, has come into his own. He is at his best when facing the league's greatest hitters. He is now looked upon as the second best pitcher on the "Climbers" staff, Johnson alone excelling the splinter pitcher.

There are at least four of the league's mightiest sluggers who seldom cause Groom much trouble, though they pound and hammer and bump the offering of other pitchers to a fare-you-well. The lank lad winds his perplexing curves around their heads, makes them fish for his wild benders and breaks their backs trying to land on the splinter.

Sam Crawford, the aged slugger of the Detroit Tigers, is Groom's principal victim. Crawford is disgusted from the start when he knows that Bob is on the mound for the Nationals against the Tigers, for Sam is very well aware that another day is going by without his doing anything.

Proofs Are Many.

Proofs are many of the marvelous power Groom holds over the head of the Tigers' greatest slugger. Even last year, when the Nationals looked like a representation from an old soldiers' home, the long lad fooled and toyed with Crawford as he has a veritable boob from the grass lands.

This season it has been the same story, and no man on the field was so happy when Groom was banished from the mound in Detroit by the umpire than the pudgy gardener of the Tigers. He has never been so good as he is now, and he has never been so good as he is now, and he has never been so good as he is now.

Collins Is Another.

If you would see a bright diamond star look like a bush league boob in a single afternoon, take a look at Eddie Collins when forced to bat against the winding curves and puzzling splitter of Bob Groom. The little second baseman of the world's champion Athletics is one of the most consistent sluggers in the league. He fears no twirler.

But when Collins goes up against Groom, the odds are against his boosting the hitting figures that day. He just can't seem to get hold of the ball with any degree of force. He gave out these pitiful exhibitions last week in Philadelphia, going without a blow all day.

The best he could do was to hammer a hot grounder to "Buz" Foster for a death at first. Then he rolled to Gandil and perished. His last time up, with Magget standing expectantly on third base, he stood there and looked at a third strike dart across the pan at an impossible angle. He had been fooled most impressively.

Ping Bodie a Joke.

Out in Chicago the South Side bugs are always pulling for Ping Bodie to shove the pellet over the garden wall. The organ grinder from Frisco does do this occasionally, too, but never when Bob Groom is on the mound against him. Then Ping curls up and dies, slowly and gracefully.

The great Ping Bodie, killer of opposing pitchers, slaughterer of the best curves and fast ones, is a veritable joke when compelled to swing on that side-arm curve ball of Groom's. He goes out for three, makes a fairman, even when he happens to land on one it seldom rolls beyond the infield. When the Climbers were in Chicago this spring Bodie rolled four puny little grounders to McBride in a row. He never had a chance.

There are many more of these, but they would make a sweet quartet of diamond sluggers. They generally make mincemeat of all daring twirlers opposing them, but they all surrender as soon as Bobby Groom, the elongated, attenuated toothpick twirler, enters the box against them. He has their number.

Gandil Is Sore.

"Chick" Gandil is sore. Indeed, he is pained and vexed. Picking up a weekly baseball paper, he read that Montreal was taking the place of Los Angeles as the city where the writers for not giving his best efforts to the Montreal club.

"What do you know about that for a charge?" he asks, hotly. "Saying I quit up there in Montreal. That's about the coldest of the writers up there, though, wouldn't know a ball player if they stumbled over him in a dark alley."

But that's something I've never done—quit on a manager. I've always done my best wherever I've been. If I can make good with the Washington club, I'm going to hang on. If I can't, the manager is never going to be able to say that I didn't try. I'm always doing my best, and I don't care what they say about it. I don't care what they say about it. I don't care what they say about it.

Chevy Chase Puts Columbia in Shade

Chevy Chase again demonstrated its superiority over Columbia in the home and home matches under the auspices of the Middle Atlantic Golf Association, which are being held each week. On the year's matches the Chevy Chase Club has a shade on the Columbia Club and yesterday won three of the five matches played.

The last match, that between John C. Davidson, of Columbia, and Morven Thompson, of Chevy Chase, was the deciding match of the afternoon, Thompson turning the tide of victory by defeating the Columbia captain by 1 up.

The summaries follow:
Chevy Chase, 3 points; Columbia, 2.
Columbia, 2 points; Chevy Chase, 1.
Chevy Chase, 5 up and 3 to play; Allan Hard, Chevy Chase, defeated E. E. Thompson, Jr., Columbia, 3 up and 2 to play; Dr. Lee L. Harban, Columbia, defeated Valcott Tucker, Chevy Chase, 1 up and 2 to play; Morven Thompson, Chevy Chase, defeated John C. Davidson, Columbia, 1 up.

Sister Sees Him.

Paul Musser, one of the Nationals' promising recruit hurlers, pitched a few innings yesterday for his sister, who sat in the stand and applauded his every effort. Musser belongs just outside of Philadelphia, and his sister praised that she might see him in a big league line-up. She did.

Out for Season.

Harry Wolter, the hard-hitting right fielder of the New York Highlanders, is out of the game for the rest of the season. He broke his leg in a game on the Yankees' park, and will have all expenses paid, together with his salary.

Fans Throng to Parks to See Contenders—Keeping Club in Striking Distance of Pennant Has Swelling Effect on Gate Receipts.

By "SENATOR."

It pays to be a winner in baseball. The baseball fan rushes to the park to see a contender. The Nationals have proved this conclusively this season, and hope to continue showing the proof.

The largest crowd ever drawn to Seelye Park by a Washington club piled into the huge stands last Wednesday when, with all the prestige of their seventeen straight victories, the Nationals appeared to combat the world's champion Athletics. Eighteen thousand fans gathered to look upon two of the hardest fought baseball battles in the history of the game.

But these figures were beaten on the following day, when 22,000 fans all on fire by the hair-raising victories of the Mackmen the day before, filled every seat in the vast structure. But they wouldn't all have been there had it not been for the fact that the "Old Fox" been leading the misfit aggregation Jimmy McAleer toted around the circuit in 1911. They were there because Griffith's team had a chance to win.

Should Make Money.

The Washington club should make a pot of money this season. If Griffith can hold his club in the first division, and it seems fair to believe he can, the most prosperous season in the history of the club should be experienced in 1912. Indeed, the heavy indebtedness of the club should be wiped out in its time with a winning club.

Washington, long tired of supporting a losing venture, will flock to see the Climbers when they can win their games. This year's team looks strong enough in every department, too, to be able to hold its own with the best in the league. During the home stays of the Nationals the club's treasury should benefit greatly by the increased class of the players.

On the road, too, the Nationals will draw more people than ever before. The West swing through the West the stellar work of the team was so unexpected, so surprising, in fact, that many fans stayed away from the game and missed seeing a great streak streaking.

Will Be Out There.

On the next visit of the Nationals to the Western cities, these same fans will be out there to see the team, having read so much about it. They'll want to see Walter Johnson and Bob Groom now more than ever. They'll want a few peeks at "Chick" Gandil, Dan Moeller, Zeb Milan, Howard Shanks, "Buz" Foster, and John Henry.

"Perdike" Fowler's eyes should gladden when the team once more hits the West, for the music of the turnstiles is sweet to his ears. He has chased around with a losing team so long that he had become hardened to small crowds, but all lives among the great this year to nant his root of enthusiasm and his tree has grown the fastest of all.

Washington has supported a lowly second division cellariste for years. With a first division team, the Capital City fans should see old timers selling their heads off for victories, and from every angle of view, they will be there.

Can't Fease Schaefer.

Herman Schaefer just can't be feazed. He won't be, that's all there is to it. During one of the Philadelphia defeats he went to bat for Joe Engel and a rooster in the upper tier joshed him in a loud voice. "Who's the better? Who's the better? Who's the better? I know him, but who is he?" he shouted.

Schaefer paid no attention to his tormentor, but created out a double to the fence in center field. When the inning was over he walked past the rooster, and, looking up at him, there he is, but who is he? I don't know him. Who is he?

That particular fan, a pest all day until that moment, subsided thereafter.

Delighted With Shanks.

Howard Shanks' fine work, both at bat and in the field, has earned him a reputation in Philadelphia, even as it has all over the frontier section of the American League.

"Where's the Shanks?" asked one fan of another within hearing of the writer. "I came out today just to see him. From all I read about him, he must be another Ty Cobb."

That was the day the lad tried to knock the cement wall down in left field Sunday for a foul fly. He ran up the banking and pulled down a sure triple, and the rooster was one of the first to start the applause for the Youngstown flyer.

INTERCITY TENNIS TEAMS NOW TIED FOR FIRST HONORS

Connie Doyle Defeats Colston, But Brother Loses to Wagner.

Washington and Baltimore are even today on the intercity tennis match, the Monumental City representatives having handily defeated the Washington racquet experts yesterday in Baltimore. The reason offered for defeat by the Washington tennis players is the fact that but half the team was able to compete, substitutes taking the places of Lee Wilson, Clung, Upshur, Moorehead, Norris McLean, and E. J. Grosvenor.

Connie Doyle's defeat of Colston, the Baltimore crack, was the feature of the tourney. Doyle handily winning the first and third sets after giving away the fourth. In the second set, H. E. Doyle lost to Wagner in his match in the singles. The writers up there, who were giving his best efforts to the Montreal club.

"What do you know about that for a charge?" he asks, hotly. "Saying I quit up there in Montreal. That's about the coldest of the writers up there, though, wouldn't know a ball player if they stumbled over him in a dark alley."

Frank Huseman Is High Gun at Shoot

Success attended three efforts of Frank Huseman in the weekly shoot of the American Gun Club held yesterday. Huseman broke 53 out of 100 targets, four better than his nearest competitor, H. B. Wilson, shooting at double target, broke 21 out of 24 in the target event of the afternoon. Wilson was second man to Huseman in the single target shoot.

Ray Morgan Visiting Baltimore Friends

Ray Morgan, the Nationals' second baseman, stopped off at Baltimore last night to visit friends today. He will be on the job tomorrow morning, the entire team being ordered to appear at the ball park at 10 o'clock for batting practice.

Street for Sale?

Gabby Street, long a familiar figure behind the bat when Walter Johnson was twirling for the Nationals, is said to be for sale, having failed to make good with the Yankees. Young Sterrett, Princeton's star receiver, has beaten Gabby Street out of his job.

Olson Is Doomed.

Ivan Olson, a sensation in the short field for the Naphlanders last season, is doomed to retirement to the minors this year. Olson has shown himself "tender" in the face of rushing base-runners, and no big league club wants him.

POTOMAC REGATTA MOST SUCCESSFUL; MAY BE REPEATED

Canoe Races and Scull Events Prove Attractive to Spectators.

Congratulations and queries are pouring in to the Potomac Boat Club today, because of the successful regatta held yesterday, and also as to the probability of another event of the same kind in the near future. The success which attended the event yesterday speaks volumes for the efforts of the clubmen who worked hard and long in the interests of the water races held yesterday afternoon.

Canoe races and single scull events with every foot of the Potomac proved of sufficient attraction to draw a host of spectators, and the races were run off with regularity.

The results of the different events follow:

Junior eight-oar race—One Mile. Won by "Academy," second, "Champlain," third, "McDonald," 4; Hough, 5; Kelso, 6; E. Evans, 3; Sale, 2; Wilson, row; Becker, rowman; second, Crew No. 2, Baumgartner, second, Hines, 7; Hart, 8; Dawson, 3; Johnson, 4; Foster, 3; Atkins, 2; Roberts, bow; Eyles, coxswain. Time—2:35.

Junior singles—Won by Parker, second, Beech, third, Imrie. Time—3:41. Canoe four-oar race—One Mile. Evans, 3; Sale, 2; Wilson, row; Becker, rowman; second, Crew No. 2, Baumgartner, second, Hines, 7; Hart, 8; Dawson, 3; Johnson, 4; Foster, 3; Atkins, 2; Roberts, bow; Eyles, coxswain. Time—2:35.

The officials were Charles C. Worden, referee, W. C. McKinnis, John Noell, and C. E. Zappone, judges; F. R. Underwood, clerk of course; Major Douglas, Spencer Bliss, E. Richard, clerk, official timers, and Robert Roy Sloum, starter.

McLean and Leech Play Finals Tomorrow

Norris McLean and E. O. Leech are to play the final round of the Columbia Club tennis tournament tomorrow afternoon. McLean is expected to be a regular winner on past performances, although Leech may spring a surprise. The feature of yesterday's play was the match between Leech and McLean, whose work against James and McLean was the main attraction.

Amateur Parade Starts From White House Ellipse

Starting Point—White lot Ellipse.

Time of Start—1 p. m.

Route of Parade—Along Executive Avenue to Pennsylvania Avenue, to Fifteenth, to F, to Seventh Street, to the park.

Order of March—Judges, resident professionals, and citizen supporters of amateurs, followed by teams entered in competition.

Judges—Commissioner Cuno Rudolph, N. E. Young, Colonel Smithers, and William Tindall, secretary to the District Commissioners.

Program at Park—Grand review by judges and crowd, followed by award of prizes.

Prizes—Three, aggregating $800; $150 to first, $100 to second, and $50 to third.

Committee in Charge—Charles King, treasurer of commission, chairman; C. Eugene Edwards, president of the Marquette League.

Probable Number of Individual Entries—Thirty-five.

Final arrangements for Amateur Day, to be held on Tuesday, will be completed at a meeting of the Amateur Commission scheduled for tomorrow night at Spaulding's. The commission is to assemble to give the details for the big parade and feature of the review at the baseball park, and will have everything in line for Tuesday afternoon, when Griffith's Nationals and the Red Sox join in the festivities.

In order that the details of the celebration be fully understood, Chairman Charles King, of the commission, has acquainted the various presidents of the leagues with the celebration in a letter which follows:

"Before the opening of the baseball season, Manager Clark Griffith extended a cordial invitation to all the organized amateur baseball clubs to be his guests on June 25, at National Park, which would be called Amateur Day. His generosity went further. He proposed that all the clubs march to the park in uniform, where they would be inspected by a committee, and prizes amounting to $800 would be given to the three best appearing clubs.

Unanimously Accepted.

"This invitation was unanimously and enthusiastically accepted by the amateur commission and a committee appointed to carry out the details. Each league, club, and individual player is, therefore, urged to co-operate to his full ability to make the occasion a splendid success, and to show an appreciation of the courtesies of the Washington club and Manager Griffith.

"The plans arranged by the committee provide that the clubs will meet on the Ellipse south of the White House at 1 o'clock on June 25, where they will be formed in procession by Captain Edwards. The line will march out F Street to Seventh Street, headed by a band provided by the Washington club, where cars will be taken for the National Park. An adequate number of cars will be provided.

"On arriving at the park, the teams will form in line and be inspected by the committee comprising Commissioner Rudolph, Secretary Tindall, ex-President N. E. Young, and Capt. Smithers, U. S. A., and on this award prizes will be distributed amounting to $800, to the first three clubs, respectively. The players will then be disbanded to witness the game between the Boston and Washington clubs.

"Remember the time and place—1 o'clock Tuesday, White House Ellipse."

Old-Timers in Line.

Quite a few of the old-timers will turn out in the parade, as made known by Tommy Evers, the old-timer, who sent the following list in last night:

"The names of ex-professional baseball players have either been seen or communicated with, and the management expects a goodly number will take part in the parade of the amateur league teams Tuesday, June 25, 2 p. m. as escort.

"The line of march is short, and all participating will be guests of Clark Griffith, manager Washington baseball club.

"It is desired by Manager Griffith that 'Amateur Day' will be the banner day of baseball in this city."

The following is the list of the vets: Nick Young, Mike Scougan, Charley Snyder, Arthur Allison, Doug Allison, Paul Hines, Phil Baker, Will Wise, A. C. Joy, Tom Evers, J. E. Graft, Kid Madigan, Kid Carney, Walter Hewitt, Clint Robinson, John Allen, Doc Summy, Will Groves, Ed Kinney, Jim Fahey, George Keefe, Charley Gurley, Pat Thornton, Harry Collier, John Foster, Ed McKenna, Harry Cavanaugh, Harry Bennett, Ed Yewell, Ed N. Brown, Charley Kaibura, Billy Hodges, E. J. Bailey.

Players on the Severage Pumping Station team have been given their releases following the action of the players on Friday, when the team as a whole refused to play in the Capital City League. The releases are dated June 18, which makes the players free agents and at liberty to sign with any of the amateur teams.

Manager Brooke Lee, of Silver Spring team, has been pronouncing the services of many of the players should the officials approve the action of the Pumping Station.

Many of the players who have signed their intention of signing with the Silver Spring outfit were members of that club last season and other seasons past, and are therefore anxious to join their former team. The number of players who will join the Columbia League club, providing their efforts materialize, include Lee McCarthy, L. Clark, Oliver Clark, Phil Bucher, Sid Lodge, Jim Murphy, Howard Clay, Jim Baggett, John Martin, Ed Beall, and Harry Shipley.

The Pumping Station team applied for a franchise in the Columbia league after leaving the Capital City circuit, but was turned down. Silver Spring now has two franchises and the Severage Pumping Station players in signing with Manager Lee have accomplished the same purpose. Eleven of the Pumpers now make up the Silver Spring team.

Threats of disorganization of the Herald team evidently had a wholesome effect on the nine, according to information given out today. Players have promised to be good and to report dutifully for the scheduled games in the future, and the information handed out today is that the team will be kept intact as a member of the Northern association.

East Washington S. S. League.

Ninth won another easy game yesterday, taking the measure of the First M. P. team by a 10 to 1 score. Although First hit the ball hard good fielding kept down the score. Ninth going through the game without an error.

Ninth got fifteen hits, many of which went for extra bases. Fanshow, getting three hits out and as many times up, led all the hitters. Two of his safeties went for doubles.

Treasury League.

Postoffice defeated G. P. O. yesterday by 14 to 3, continuing its great winning streak in the circuit. It began to look as though none of the other teams were able to put a check on the Mailmen, who have won repeatedly.

Merrill Vaughn, playing third base for the Postoffice team, led his nine at the bat with three hits. Ryan, pitching for the Mailmen, got his game easily and took his time all during the contest.

Departmental League.

State defeated War in a joke game yesterday by 21 to 6. State made twenty-one hits, every player on the team getting one or more safeties. Rector, catching for the winner, got four as his portion.

War was unable to stop the onslaught and the game went but six and one-half innings. In the fifth round State made nine runs before three men were down and the game was called after War had failed to get runs.

Northern Association.

Seaton got in ahead of Regents yesterday by an 11-to-10 score, and won because Regents were unable to overcome the lead obtained in the first frames. Regents made three runs in the last frame, and made a strong bid for the game.

A meeting of the league is scheduled for tomorrow night at 8 o'clock, at the Washington Herald building. Changes in the officers of the league are expected, and all managers are asked to be on hand promptly.

Marquette League.

Yoho, pitching for the Medicos, held Trinity safe at all times yesterday, while his team mates banged the ball for a total of twelve hits, which netted fourteen runs. Trinity got but two runs off the four hits made off Yoho.

Independence League.

The Pepco team, of the Independence League, journeyed to Rockville and took the team from that town into camp by a score of 16 to 4. Sixteen hits were made by the Power Company team.

Sunday School League.

All sorts of baseball was seen in the Ingram-Sherwood game yesterday, which went to Ingram by an 11-to-8 score. Ingram managed to get enough ahead in the first four innings to hold out until the end.
